

I oppose the attempt by the Consumer Bankers Association (CBA) to weaken Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. The widespread consumer approval and use of the National and State of Indiana Do-Not-Call lists is proof that consumers do not want to be bothered by telephone calls from businesses or organizations, much the same that email consumers do not want to be bothered by SPAM. I want to continue to be protected from unwanted telephone calls--which is ANY call that is not from someone I know personally--in the privacy of my home.
